

Thank you for taking the time to look at my work. We have spoken with you in the past and you expressed an interest in my style. Today I want to update you on projects I have been fortunate to be a part of and show you the depth of my expertise.

This summer I was involved with a book project for Pearson Education illustrating 76 spreads for one of their How To titles "How Wireless Works" 2nd edition. Quite an involved process which squeezed 6 months of work into a window of only 3 months. At times I felt there was no end and working 16 hour days about did me in. I survived and am quite pleased with the results. To see more visit the web site and click on gallery 4.

I continue to develop work for both advertising and editorial clients which allow me to push the boundaries. Please feel free to contact me to discuss any future conceptual needs.

To see additional work you can go to <http://www.partnersphoto.com>. Please call 812-597-0063 with questions or email me at: eric@partnersphoto.com.

Eric Lindley illustrator think partners!

photo-illustration

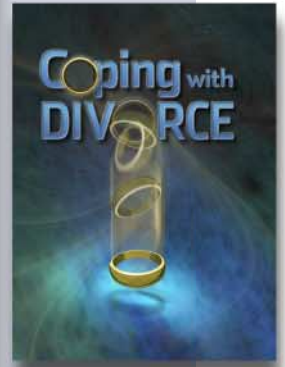

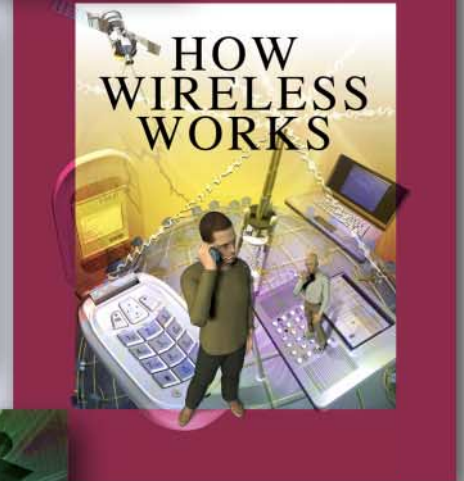

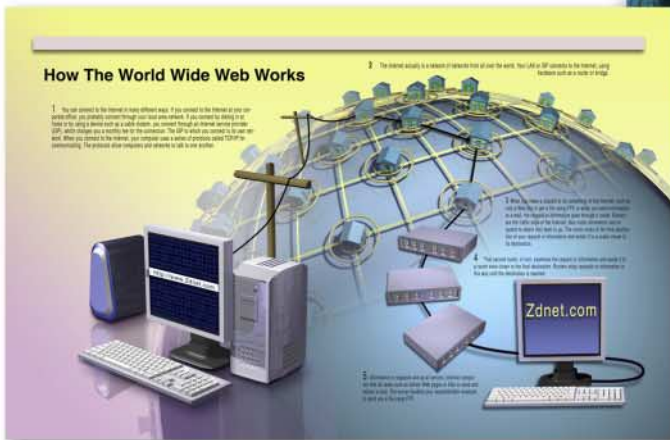

photo-illustration

3D illustration

3D illustration

